

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Award-winning Vocalist Stefani Rose Brings Country Music for a Cause to Raleigh Benefit for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society to be held at the Pour House Music Hall

LADERA RANCH, CA – July 16, 2014 – California-based vocalist Stefani Rose will perform a benefit concert on August 10 for The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS) in Raleigh, NC. By performing, participating and advocating, Stefani Rose has helped organizations raise more than $850,000 during events in the past three years. She has performed for audiences of over 30,000 and has been particularly focused on helping bring awareness and funding to charitable causes.

“My father-in-law lives in Raleigh and was recently diagnosed with lymphoma. Bringing Country Music for a Cause to my family’s hometown seemed natural and I’m dedicating the night to him and all other country music lovers,” said Stefani Rose.

Nearly 800,000 people in the United States are living with, or in remission from, lymphoma. Recent medical advances have led to better, more targeted treatments that have significantly increased the survival rates and quality of life for patients.

“We are absolutely thrilled that Stefani would choose to partner with LLS for this benefit,” said Emily Blust, Executive Director of the North Carolina Chapter of The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society \(www.lls.org/nc\). “Blood cancers like lymphoma affect a large number of Americans, and LLS supports research that has had a significant affect on treatment options. We hope that this event brings country music lovers in Raleigh together for a great night and a good cause.”
